

July 11, 2026

Hiring Team
Westinghouse Electric Company
Cranberry Township, Pennsylvania

Scaling ambition requires a stronger operating envelope.

Westinghouse is entering a moment when the opportunity is obvious and the operating burden is easy to underestimate. Publicly, the company is advancing fleet-scale AP1000 deployment, long-lead supply-chain investment, and a broad operating-plant portfolio spanning engineering, outages, parts, digital optimization, I&C, staffing, and long-term operations. In that environment, a Chief of Staff can create disproportionate value by helping the business see commitments, constraints, and decisions early enough to

That is the work I have repeatedly done from different operating positions. At Compunetics, I led backward system supporting approximately five million second-day orders annually, building the routines, visibility, escalation paths, and standard work required to keep scale from becoming noise. Today at Vape-executives. Nuclear expertise should remain with nuclear experts. My contribution would be to make those experts easier to hear at the right moment, clarify where decisions belong, surface systemic risk earlier, questions I would ask, and a first-120-day approach designed to learn before prescribing.

Carpe diem,

Russell Dudek